1. At 1:45 p.m. on 16 June 1951, 70 air force soldiers under the command of a lieutenant arrived at the Werder railroad station on a train coming from the direction of Potsdam. The soldiers marched to Werder airfield.
2. On 1 July, the barracks installations at the field were occupied. No aircraft were seen at the field.
3. On 6 July, the aircraft occupation at the field could not be determined. From observation of formation flights of three planes, it was inferred that single-engine fighters were stationed at the field.
